ESCP Business School - Paris
Friday 20 January 2023

Dialoguing with customers and stakeholders to handle future marketing and societal challenges.

Marketers must emphatically engage in the conversions taking place here between the various social groups and institutions in order to understand as early and precisely as possible the direction in which customer needs and expectations are developing and how these can be met in a promising manner. At the same time, it is important to seize the opportunity to be presented as a trustworthy dialogue partner whose ideas and suggestions the target customers willingly take up.

In this respect, one of the key challenges facing marketers is to build up and expand their willingness and ability to engage in dialogue with all vigor. Important prerequisites here are, for example, a strong reputation based on a convincing purpose and brand personality, the willingness to take a clear position even on controversial issues, and mastery of suitable (digital) technologies and social tools in order to stay in a promising dialogue with customers and all other relevant stakeholders.
